The Norwegian Radio Orchestra, Kringkastingsorkestret (Kork), consists of 54 musicians, and we take great pride in the orchestra's versatility. Classical symphonic music is at the heart of our repertoire, and we aim to perform in a chamber music style where each member takes initiative and actively contributes to our collective music-making. Beyond our core repertoire, we explore various other music genres, consistently delivering the highest quality performances, both individually and as an ensemble. We expect our new colleagues to contribute to the orchestra's flexibility and uphold our high musical standards. Good and open communication is essential, both within the sections and throughout the orchestra as a whole.
