

Web Designer

Web/graphic/UI designer to work their magic with our website, campaign ads and sales material.

Do you have a creative mindset? Are your graphic design skills on point? Are you on top of the latest trends in web and UI design? Then you might just be our soulmate.

We are looking for a web/graphic/UI designer to work their magic with our website, campaign ads and sales material. In return we will make you a part of a team of ten with sky-rocketing employee satisfaction, high ambitions and horrible humor, in a young and vibrant department. This incredible team is called Online—or Love Troopers, depending on who you ask—and currently consists of a couple of Star Trek geeks, a weirdo who doesn't like chocolate, a celebrity magnet, a horror lover, a soon-to-be published writer, a passionate weightlifter, a silverfox and you?

You will be working closely with a UX designer, web developers and campaign managers on everchanging, fun and high-paced projects, where your opinions matter!

One week you might be working alone in your own headspace, deeply immersed in pixel-pushing an icon, and another, rethinking an entire new UI to lift the customer experience on our website with our UX designer. In other words, you are not afraid to get your hands dirty and love a good challenge.

You are...

- Newly graduated or have a few years of experience working with graphic design, digital design, UI design/interaction design or something like it
- Detail oriented and aware of desktop versus mobile solutions
- Able to communicate your ideas and ideate vocally in sparring with others
- Enthusiastic about your stuff and solving problems
- A team player who can transform constructive criticism into visual improvements
- Able to see opportunities instead of problems

You will...

- Turn wireframes/mockups/userneeds into final pixel-perfect design solutions
- Deliver a solution that takes user needs, business goals, and technical limitations into careful consideration
- Be involved in the UX processes like usertesting and ideation workshops
- Work in the application of your choice, as long as it can deliver specifications for the developers
- Influence our design guides in collaboration with other designers of the company
- Lift the visual character of e-economic's website
- Work in a team and department that allows for a high level of creativity

It's a plus if you...

- Have experience working with Sketch and InVision
- Have experience working with CMS systems like Drupal or Wordpress
- Are familiar with Design Thinking and User Experience principles

About us

We are located in Carlsberg Byen together with all Visma's companies in the Metropolitan area. The 20,000 m² building is the largest commercial building in Carlsberg Byen with room for over 1100 employees, and is within walking distance of S-trains and the metro. Our building includes roof terraces, cafes, restaurant, fitness, courtyards and an atrium. Our home in Carlsberg Byen will be a place for knowledge and innovation, which contributes to Visma remaining one of the most attractive workplaces in Denmark.

We build and design a cloud-based accounting product that helps companies run their businesses. More than +150.000 happy customers use our product on a regular basis. We have more than 300 employees from +25 nationalities.
