

Principal Tuba - Noord Nederlands Orkest

The Northern Netherlands Symphony Orchestra (NNO) is a versatile and leading symphony orchestra that explores new paths in special programs based on the following: performing and developing the symphonic repertoire at a high level.

The NNO is the orchestra of the three northern provinces in the Netherlands and has Groningen as its location. The NNO performs in concert halls, at outdoor events and festivals, and for school children. The orchestra also travels to other venues around the country such as the Concertgebouw in Amsterdam, the Doelen in Rotterdam and TivoliVredenburg in Utrecht.

As a symphony orchestra we are at the heart of society and bring with great pleasure as many people as possible into contact with classical music. This automatically means that we value a diverse workforce. It is precisely the diversity in our orchestra community, the quality of our musicians and of our programming that makes us a special orchestra.

Antony Hermus is at present the Principal Guest Conductor, with Michel Tabachnik fulfilling the position of Conductor Emeritus. As of August 1, 2022, Hartmut Haenchen will be Principal Guest Conductor and Eivind Gullberg Jensen will become Chief Conductor. The NNO is currently comprised of 75 musicians.
