

Second assistant chorus master

For next season Dutch National Opera (DNO) is recruiting a new Second assistant chorus master (50 - 75% part-time).

Dutch National Opera stands for excellence, a varied programming and an innovative approach. DNO likes to experiment and broaden its repertoire by revisiting opera classics, discovering unknown works and commissioning new operas. Our chorus has a core basis of 50-60 members, which are supplemented by a large pool of regular extra chorus singers. Since June 2022, the chorus has been led by Edward Ananian-Cooper and full-time assistant chorus master Ad Broeksteeg.

The second assistant chorus master should be comfortable rehearsing sections of the chorus alone from the piano and conducting tutti rehearsals. You are also expected to accompany the chorus master's rehearsals on the piano.

In addition, you have a role in maintaining and improving the quality of the chorus. You organise and accompany auditions, support singers and monitor the musical quality during stage rehearsals. You provide musical assistance to the chorus masters and the chorus office, and help in preparing rehearsals. The workload will be negotiated with the musical team so that there is always a pianist and assistant present in rehearsals.

The ideal candidate

We are looking for a congenial colleague who knows how to inspire and connect a group of passionate singers.

- You have training in choral conducting, and an interest in the singing voice.
- You bring your own musical opinions but are also willing to support a common artistic vision.
- You are an excellent pianist and are flexible in terms of work hours, repertoire and approach.
- You can communicate fluently in English. Command of the Dutch language is a bonus.

If you are enthusiastic about this vacancy and are allowed to work in The Netherlands, please apply before January 30, 2023 for this position via our website
